

STEVE NOUTCHA

Self-learning report

04/11/2013 : A trip to Amsterdam

goals :

To discover a new country (culture, card, map, people...)

To practice English each day during my trip with different people and tourists

To test my English level (oral comprehension and expression and reading) activities :

- I Worked on the TOEIC theme, Chap 3: Email, memos, letters. (from the book « nouveau TOEIC , lin Loughheed)
- I speak with different people in Amsterdam. I asked information's and details. I visit different quarters (red lights districts, Centraal station...)
- I have seen the movie "good deeds" in english language with english subtitles (it is the first time for me)

And in the same time, I try to organize my trip to USA and Amsterdam.

Evaluation

In these different activities, I realized that my English level was not so bad. Because when I speak with people, they understood me. I succeed to have many talks. I discover an attraction in english language. This way encourage me to see a movie just in english. Now I want to speak English fluently.

Conclusion

This trip in Amsterdam create in me good feeling and it is very weird. But it encourages me to continue and work more hard to improve my English.

And now I am very excited to discover USA.

Little question or interrogation...

I find a mean to use different Amsterdam things (pictures, culture) to improve my english in France. And I would like to do this way for my next trip.

